

Database Name: WANDERLUST

The purpose of the „WANDERLUST“ database is to track information about booked, planned, questionable or desirable adventures. The relationships between Adventures, People and Overnight Accomodations allow a great overview about relevant details, for example, the kind of adventure, the overnight accommodation for a specific trip (including price, contact numbers, reservation link, pictures, etc.) and who else is going on that trip in order to communicate efficiently. The “Days till Adventure” table is not only helpful but with the IF-Function included also very rewarding. A short description and pictures to each trip are informative as well as increasing the thrill of anticipation. I also like the “Adventures by Region” grid in which I can instantly see through which regions I have travelled a lot and those I have completely left out.
